(ii.) That the other recommendation of the Board be brought up for consideration after the above change in the Regulations shall have been sanctioned by the Senate and approved by the Governor-General in Council.

244. Read a letter from R. C. Dutt, Esq., C. I. E., Fellow of the Calcutta University, and Author of "Brief History of Ancient and Modern India," stating that, as some of the Members of the History Board had interested themselves in Pundit Haraprasad Sastri's " School History of India," they should not be allowed to vote for its selection as a text-book.

ORDERED—

That Mr. R. C. Dutt be informed that, having considered the circumstances under which the book was recommended by the Board, the Syndicate see no reason for taking any action.

RESOLVED—

That the action of the Registrar be approved.

246. Read the following letter from Dr. Asutosh Mukhopadhyay :—

"I beg to resign my appointment as one of the examiners for the ensuing Examination for Honours in Law. You will be good enough to take immediate steps for supplying my place, and lay my resignation before the Syndicate at their next meeting.

In tendering my resignation so near the time when the papers I was expected to set will be due, I think I ought to add a word of explanation. When the Syndicate asked me to take the appointment, I felt that having regard to the terms of their Resolution, dated the 7th May, 1892, I might, and so I did, comply. Later on, I realised the fact that as regards my standing in the bar, I was junior to one of the candidates for the examination. Before I could decide what course to adopt under the circumstances, a representation was made to the Syndicate respecting the appointment. As I considered the representation to be of such a character that it was necessary, in the interests of the University, for the Syndicate to deal with it, I refrained from any action that might prevent it from being so dealt with. The representation has now been disposed of, and I am free to send in my resignation. The fact, stated above, with reference to one of the candidates, imposes upon me a peremptory obligation to resign."

To be recorded.

247. The Registrar reported that, in consequence of Dr. Mukerjee's resignation, he had, in anticipation of the orders of the Syndicate, asked Mr. R. Allen and Mr. A. Caspersz to conduct the whole examination.

RESOLVED—

That the action of the Registrar be approved.

M. B.—Monday, the 13th April, and following days.

F. E.—Monday, the 13th April, and following days.

L. E. and B. E.—Monday, the 6th July, and following days.

250. The Registrar pointed out that the number of days which the Engineering Examinations at present occupy may be conveniently reduced by giving out two papers on each day.

RESOLVED—

That henceforth two papers be given out on each day at the F. E., L. E. and B. E. Examinations, and that the order for holding the examinations, as set forth in para. 2 of the Rules in pp. 149 and 151 respectively (Calendar, 1895) be modified as follows :—

318. READ a memo. from the Principal, Civil Engineering College, Sibpur, forwarding an application from Raneschandra Das, who since passing the last L. E. Examination has been attending the Mining class in the above-named College, and who prays that the Sibley Scholarship may be awarded to him.

RESOLVED—

That in the opinion of the Faculty, without legal advice to the contrary, they are not at liberty to recommend that an L. E. be considered a graduate of the University. However, the testator gives power to divert one moiety of the income to be expended in any other way which may, in the opinion of the Senate, be better calculated to further the study of Engineering Science among the natives of India. It appears that half the income from the Sibley Fund would be sufficient to provide a scholarship of Rs. 30 a month, and they accordingly recommend that such be awarded to Raneschandra Das, tenable for two years.

THE REGISTRAR, CALCUTTA UNIVERSITY.

SIR,

WE, a Committee appointed by the Syndicate to consider, and report on the questions raised in the enclosed letters from Mr. A. Thomson and Dr. P. K. Ray, have the honour to submit the following recommendations :—

1. We recommend that the names of all female candidates examined in Calcutta be entered in the Index at the same place, under a special heading.

2. We recommend that a limit of time be fixed for the re-examination of papers ; that the limit be fixed at four days for 100 papers and under, and one day additional for every 25 papers, or portion thereof, over 100, Sundays excluded, and that the amount of remuneration be reduced by Rs. 16 for each day by which that limit is exceeded.

3. We recommend that the attention of examiners be specially directed to the rule requiring them to send, at the end of each week, the marks assigned to the papers examined ; and that the Registrar be requested to report, after the examinations are over, any case of infraction of this or of any other rule.

4. As regards the B. A. Examination, we recommend that separate examiners be appointed in English and in Philosophy, to examine Honour and Pass papers ; that two examiners be specifically appointed for each of the Pass papers in English and in Philosophy ; and that these two examiners be required to exchange at least 25 papers for the purpose of satisfying themselves whether they have been following a uniform system of marking, as decided on under General Rule 10.

N. B.—We recommend that the system of half-papers be in troduced at the examination in 1897, and that one examiner be ap pointed to examine the answers to each half-paper.

5. As regards the First Examination in Arts, we recommend that a Head Examiner be appointed in English, Mathematics, Sanskrit, Physics, Chemistry, History and Logic; that his duties correspond to those of a Head Examiner in the Entrance Examination; and that his fee be fixed at Rs. 400 in the first three subjects and Rs. 200 in the others, with a fee for re-examining an answer paper equal to that allowed for examining it.

N. B.—We recommend that, in the Entrance Examination, the fee of a Head Examiner for re-examining an answer paper be made uniform with that for examining it.

We have the honour to be,

SIR,

Your most obedient Servants,

Read also a representation from Babu Gaurisankar De, M. A., the Revd. John Morrison, M. A., B. D., Babu Herambachandra Maitra, M. A., and Babu Ramendrasundar Trivedi, M. A., Members of the Senate, in which they object to the proposal of appointing Head Examiners at the F. A. Examination, and suggest that the proper plan for securing uniformity in the method of marking answer papers at the F. A. and B. A. Examinations will be to split up the paper into as many sections as there are examiners, so that each examiner may look over the answers of all the candidates in the section assigned to him, and frame rules to ensure more frequent and regular meetings of examiners whilst the questions are in the course of examination.

RESOLVED BY THE MAJORITY OF THE MEMBERS PRESENT—

(1). That the report be adopted, and that the following changes be made in the Rules for Examinations in Arts:—

(a). That the following be substituted for rule 3 under the heading "I.—General.—(a) Appointment of Examiners."

"3. Not less than a month before the commencement of the Arts Examinations, the Syndicate shall appoint examiners to look over the answer papers of the candidates."

Four Head Examiners shall be appointed to superintend the work of the Entrance Examiners, one in each of the following subjects :—

(1) English.
(2) Mathematics.
(3) Sanskrit and Bengali.
(4) History and Geography.

Seven Head Examiners shall be appointed to superintend the work of the F. A. examiners, one in each of the following subjects :—

(1) English.
(2) Mathematics.
(3) Sanskrit.
(4) Physics.
(5) Chemistry.
(6) History.
(7) Logic.

Separate examiners shall be appointed in English and in Philosophy, to examine Honour and Pass papers in the B. A. Examination.

Two examiners shall be specifically appointed for each of the B. A. Pass papers in English and in Philosophy.

* The B. A. Pass papers in English and in Philosophy shall each be divided into halves, and one examiner shall be appointed to examine the answers to each half-paper."

(b). That in the third paragraph of rule 10 under the heading "I.—General.—(c) Examination of Papers," for the words "In the case of the Entrance Examination" the words "In the Entrance and F. A. Examinations" be substituted, and that the following be added to the rule as a new paragraph :—

"In the B. A. examination, the two Examiners specifically appointed for each of the Pass papers in English and in Philosophy shall be required to exchange at least 25 papers for the purpose of satisfying themselves whether they have been following the uniform system of marking decided on under the first paragraph of this rule."

(c). That rule 13, under the heading "I.—General.—(c) Examination of Papers," be modified as follows :—

"13. The examiners will be expected to examine the papers of the candidates in the order in which their names appear in the roll, and, at the end of each week, to send to the Registrar or to the Head Examiner, as the case may be, the pages of the roll containing the marks assigned to the papers examined. The attention of the examiners is specially directed to this rule, and the Registrar is requested to report to the Syndicate, after the examinations are over, any case of infraction of this or any other rule."

* To come into force at the examination in 1897.

(d). That the following be inserted after the word "mark" in the first paragraph of rule 15 under the heading "I.—General.—(c) Examination of Papers."

"The time allowed for the re-examination of answer papers shall be four days for 100 papers and under, and one day additional for every 25 papers, or portion thereof over 100, Sundays being excluded."

And that the second paragraph of the above rule be modified as follows:—

"If any examiner fails to send in his marks within the limit of time prescribed for examination and re-examination, the amount of his remuneration shall be reduced by Rs. 16 for each day by which he exceeds that period."

(e). That the following rules be added under the heading "II.—Special.—b First Examination in Arts":—

"6. The Head Examiner shall determine, in consultation with the F. A. Examiners in his subject, the method of marking the answer papers of the candidates.

For this purpose a meeting of the examiners in each subject shall be held as soon as possible after the close of the examination, at which provisional rules shall be drawn up. After this meeting each examiner shall look over a certain number of papers (the number to be determined at the meeting), and shall submit them to the Head Examiner for re-examination. After he has re-examined these papers, the Head Examiner shall call another meeting for the final determination of the rules. A copy of these rules shall be sent to each F. A. Examiner and to the Registrar.

7. Each Head Examiner shall re-examine 5 per cent. of the answer papers looked over by each of the F. A. Examiners in his subject, with a view to see whether they are working uniformly according to the method indicated, and shall direct, if necessary, any examiner to conform strictly to that method.

The re-examination of the answer papers shall be conducted in the following manner :—

Every F. A. Examiner shall, as soon as he finishes the examination of about 100 papers, send them with the corresponding pages of his roll to his Head Examiner, who shall examine at least five papers taken at random out of them, and shall give the examiner any further instructions he may deem fit, or shall return the remaining papers for re-examination, if he is of opinion that the rules have not been complied with. The same course shall be followed with every subsequent batch of 100 papers.

8. In no case shall the Head Examiner increase or diminish the marks assigned to any paper by an F. A. Examiner without himself examining that paper.

9. In case of a difference arising between a Head Examiner and an F. A. Examiner, an appeal shall lie to the Moderators.

10. Every F. A. Examiner must remain in Calcutta as long as his services are required by his Head Examiner.

11. The Head Examiner shall forward to the Registrar by instalments the marks or totalised marks, as the case may be, in his subject, with observation on those cases which he may deem worthy of special consideration.

In order to avoid delay in the submission of the totalised marks, Head Examiners are requested to see that the F. A. Examiners look over the papers of candidates in the order in which their names appear in the rolls (General Rule 13)."

(ii). That the following alteration be made in the scale of Remuneration to Examiners in pp. 152-153, Calendar, 1895 :—

(a). In the scale for the Entrance Examination the words " Head Examiner's fee for re-examining an answer paper, Re. 1," be omitted, and the following note be added in its place :—

" The fee of a Head Examiner for re-examining an answer paper is equal to the fee allowed for examining it.

(b). In the scale for the F. A. Examination the following be inserted :—

401. Babu Kalicharan Banurji moved (accepting certain suggestions made by Babu Mahendranath Ray, the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Gooroo Dass Banerjee, and the Vice-Chancellor) that the Form of Application for admission to the Entrance Examination, the Form of Certificate for passing the Entrance Examination, the Regulations for the Examination of Female Candidates, and the Form of Application for admission of Female Candidates to the Entrance Examination, be modified as follows :—

(a). That in the Form of Application for admission to the Entrance Examination, the different heads under "Particulars to be filled in by the candidate" (p. 90, Calendar, 1895, Appendix A) be consecutively numbered.

(b). That a foot-note be added to the head "Where to be examined," to show the places that may, from time to time, be appointed by the Syndicate for holding the examination.

(c). That the words "Second Language morning paper" be inserted in brackets after "Language in which, besides English, to be examined."

(d). That in the head "Language into which translation to be made," the word "Vernacular" be inserted before, and the words "from and" after the word "Language," and under the head, the following be inserted as sub-heads :—

(a). "English afternoon paper.
(b). Second Language afternoon paper."

and that the following foot-note be added :—

"Sub-head (a) is not to be filled up by candidates whose vernacular is English, and Sub-head (b) need not be filled up by candidates taking up any of the following languages :—

Greek, Latin, Hebrew, Armenian, French, or German."

(e). That to the Form of Entrance Certificate (p. 107, Calander, 1895, Appendix A) the following foot-note be added :—

"The words 'He also passed the optional examination in Drawing' are to be included in the certificate of a candidate who has passed in Drawing."

(f). That in para. 2 of the Regulations for the Examination of Female Candidates (p. 49, Calendar, 1895), for the word "to be prescribed by the Syndicate, signed by a Member of the Senate, or the head of an affiliated institution," the words "prescribed in Appendix A" be substituted.

(g). That at the end of the marginal note to the certificate appended to the application form for admission of Female Candidates to the Entrance Examination (p. 104, Calendar, 1895, Appendix A), after "Inspector of Schools" the words "or a Member of the Senate" be added.

A. Examination on payment of half the fee."

(3) That in the Regulations for the M. A. Examination, pp. 45 and 48, Calendar for 1895, (a) for the word "examined" in the second sentence of para. 3, be substituted the words "admitted to the examination;" (b) after the third sentence in para. 3, and the second sentence in para. 12, be added the sentences "A candidate who fails to pass may be admitted to any one or more subsequent M. A. Examinations on payment of a like fee of fifty rupees on each occasion. A candidate who fails to present himself may be admitted to any one subsequent M. A. Examination on payment of half the fee."

Babu Umeschandra Datta seconded the motion.

Inquiries were made as to whether the concession might not be made in favour of Entrance candidates and of candidates for professional examinations.

Thereupon, Babu Mahendranath Ray moved the following amendment:—

That the consideration of the question be adjourned, to enable the Syndicate to place before the Senate a tabular statement of the probable loss in revenue which will be caused in the case of the F.A., B.A., and M.A. candidates, and whether the same concession may be made in favour of the Entrance candidates.

Babu Debaprasad Sarbadhikari seconded the amendment.

Mr. H. M. Percival and Babu Herambachandra Maitra spoke in support of the original motion.

The amendment was lost, and the original motion was carried.

410. Mr. J. F. Rowe moved—

(a). That the present practice of appointing Examiners solely from among gentlemen who do not teach the subject to be examined on, deprives the University of the services of those who are best fitted to set the papers, and is consequently prejudicial to the best interests of the University.

(b). That it is expedient to appoint a Board of Revising Examiners, whose duties shall be to revise the questions set by the Examiner, in consultation with him, and to apportion the number of marks to be assigned to each subject or book on which questions are set in a paper.

In support of this motion, Mr. Rowe said that the papers set under the present system had given rise to a widespread dissatisfaction, as regards both the nature of the questions and the distribution of marks.

The Very Rev. Father A. Neut seconded the motion.

Babu Debaprasad Sarbadhikari suggested that the two propositions should be taken up separately. He was opposed to the second, but he would support the first.

Babu Herambachandra Maitra referred to the Minutes of the University as a warning against reverting to the old system. He moved the following amendment :—

That to proposition (a), the following be added : "and that as a means of preventing the evil effects of the present system, the Syndicate be requested to make an attempt to secure, as far as possible, the services of professors or experts in other Indian Universities or in England."

That proposition (b) be modified as follows : "That it is expedient to empower the Boards of Studies to apportion, wherever practicable, the number of marks to be assigned to each subject or book on which questions are set in a paper."

Babu Umeschandra Datta seconded the amendment.

The Hon'ble Mr. Justice Gooroo Dass Banerjee, while supporting the second part of the original motion, opposed the first, and pointed out the danger of reverting to the old system, which was calculated to hamper the teacher, and to affect the integrity of the examination.

Maulavi Shamsul Huda supported the amendment and spoke against the first part of the original motion.

Rev. J. Morrison spoke in support of the second part of the amendment.

Rev. H. Whitehead supported the original motion, and contended that the old system was the lesser of two evils.

Babu Mahendranath Ray opposed the original motion, and supported the second part of the amendment.

Mr. A. Pedler pointed out that sometimes the questions set were not correct.

Babu Lalbihari Mitra spoke in support of the original motion.

Mr. C. R. Wilson said that none but teachers could be examiners, and supported the original motion.

Rev. Dr. J. Hector said he would not like to be appointed an examiner in a subject which he had to teach.

Mr. H. M. Percival pointed out the impracticability of giving effect to the second proposition of the original motion, and opposed the motion.

Babu Kalicharan Banurji opposed both the motion and the amendment. He pointed out that the examiners appointed under the present system were experienced teachers, and the rules for examinations amply provided for the object intended to be secured by the second proposition. The grounds on which fault was found with the papers set under the present system, applied also to those set under the old system.

The Vice-Chancellor said that the question was whether the perfection or the integrity of the examinations was the more desirable object to secure.

The amendment to the first proposition of the original motion, and the first proposition of the original motion were both lost.

The amendment to the second proposition of the original motion was lost.

The second proposition of the original motion was carried.

SIRS,

IN reference to the resolution of the Syndicate on the 8th instant, reflecting on my conduct in regard to an alleged assault committed on a boy in the Senate House by the chaprasies of the University, I beg to place my resignation of the office of Registrar in your hands, and to request that a successor be appointed as soon as possible. 441. The Senate was convened for the purpose of conferring degrees.

The Vice-Chancellor having declared the Convocation opened, the graduates of the year were admitted to their respective degrees in the usual manner.

The Vice-Chancellor then addressed the Convocation as follows :—

YOUR HONOUR, MEMBERS OF THE SENATE,

THE severe and prolonged illness from which His Excellency the Chancellor has lately been suffering, and which has aroused widespread sympathy among the people committed to his rule, touches us as a University very closely, inasmuch as it has deprived us on this occasion of the pleasure of listening to an address to the Senate from his lips—an opportunity of which I have good ground for believing that he would gladly have availed himself had the state of his health permitted it. The remarks which His Excellency addressed to the Senate two years ago assured us of the interest which he had long taken in all educational questions, and of the sympathy which he felt with the great educational movement which this University represents. While, therefore, we are happy in being able to congratulate him on what, we hope, is a complete recovery, it is at the same time a source of no small disappointment and regret to us, as it is also to the Chancellor himself, whose wish and full intention it was to be present, that the opportunity of addressing the Senate at this Convocation should have been denied him. I share that feeling of regret to the utmost. Occupying, as I now have to do, the place which we all wish the Chancellor had been able to fill, my remarks on this occasion will be brief, and confined to a review of the leading events of the past academical year.

The results of the annual examinations are such as to call for no particular notice. There has been a satisfactory advance in the number and the proportion of successful candidates at the Entrance and First Arts Examinations. At the B. A. degree Examination there is some falling off, and a large increase in the number of Masters of Arts. If I may be forgiven a personal retrospect, I am tempted to compare the results of 1895 with those of the year 1865, about the time when my connection with the University of Calcutta began. The University had then been in existence nine years, and the number of candidates passing the Entrance Examination was 510; it is now 2,743. The B. A. graduates were 45; the outturn this year is 448. The Masters of Arts were 8; and this year the number is 84. The number of colleges affiliated to the University in Arts was then 29; it is now 99. And still more: there was then but one University for the whole of Northern India, Burma, and Ceylon; the number has now been increased to three, each with its own affiliated institutions and its own annual supply of graduates. The development of education which these figures indicate is certainly remarkable. In some quarters it has been described as abnormal and excessive; but is this a just description? It is not a sufficient answer to say that if the annual outturn of graduates be compared with the whole population of Bengal (to say nothing of the other Provinces which the University serves), it gives only one graduate a year for every 1,50,000 of the people; for if the supply is still in excess of the requirements of the Province, the numerical comparison ceases to have any weight. But the fact of chief significance about the progress of education in Bengal is that the number of graduates is not found to be in excess of actual requirements. It is true that public offices are besieged by candidates applying for appointments, but there is nothing extraordinary in that. The public service is still on the whole the most attractive form of employment, by reason of its security, the prospects of promotion which it offers, and the certainty of a pension at the end of approved service. But as very few of the candidates succeed in gaining a Government appointment, the necessary result is that they have to offer their services and qualifications in other markets, and for lower pay. It is a fact of common observation that where twenty years ago an Entrance candidate was accepted, and ten years ago a First Arts candidate, a graduate can now be secured with little or no increase in the pay first offered. That is to say, the spread of education in India, as in other countries, means that the higher work of the country is performed by a better educated body of men, and therefore as a rule more efficiently performed. I see no reason whatever for any apprehension being felt on this ground. True, there may appear to be room for discontent when the graduate finds that his degree is not the same passport to employment, nor of the same market value, as it was in past years; but this, I think, is only seriously felt when his case is an exceptional one. When, on the contrary, he finds the majority of his fellows in like case with himself, he knows that he has to accept the situation brought about by an inevitable change. And beyond all this, there is the far higher consideration to which I referred two years ago, when I quoted Sir Alfred Lyall's words of twenty years earlier:—"England's prime function in India is at present this: to superintend the tranquil elevation of the whole moral and intellectual standard." The intellectual standard of our students is manifestly being raised by the University; we would fain hope that their moral standard is being raised too. We can, therefore, as I then remarked, look forward with absolute serenity of mind to a future when the higher education will be so widely spread as, on the one hand, to furnish no ground for any specific claim or any individual grievance, and on the other, to afford the best and the only possible guarantee of that intellectual and moral education of the higher classes in Bengal which Sir Alfred Lyall had in view.

There is another fact of some significance to be noted in connection with the spread of higher education. It is well known that, with very few exceptions, the great development of education in the last thirty years has been due to the establishment, not of Government colleges, but of colleges under private, and chiefly under native, management. It is not, as is sometimes alleged, Government which is giving an artificial stimulus to high education by the multiplication of its colleges; it is the native community which itself provides ampler means and facilities for the acquisition of learning. The Government chiefly devotes itself, on the one hand, to the improvement up to a European standard, of the education imparted in its existing colleges; witness those magnificent laboratories for the study of physics and chemistry which have placed the Presidency College of this city in the first rank among institutions for the teaching of science in any country. The Government devotes itself, on the other hand, to the spread of primary education among the masses of the people, with such steadily growing success that at the present time considerably more than one-fourth of the boy-population of Bengal is receiving instruction at school. No, it is not to the direct efforts of the Government that the spread of collegiate education is due; it is due to the intelligence and enterprise of public-spirited individuals or bodies among the native community. It is they who have gauged the extent of the demand, and with the expenditure of time, of energy, and in many cases of money, have met that demand as it arose. And it is a gratifying reflection that those who have interested themselves in opening new colleges are now doing what they can to improve the standard of instruction imparted in them. Quite recently the heads of certain colleges in Calcutta under private management addressed a joint letter to the Syndicate, stating that they had determined to raise the fees in the higher classes of the colleges under their charge, and expressing the hope that the Syndicate would approve of their action, and grant them its sympathy and support by discouraging proposals to charge fees at any lower rate on the part of institutions that might hereafter come into existence. Both the Syndicate and the Governor-General in Council have approved of this proposal. Its object, as I regard it, manifestly is, not to increase the profits of these institutions, since colleges charging whether low or high rates of fees, cannot in these days be conducted at a profit; but rather to enable their managers to strengthen the professorial staff in the interests of their students. Such a movement as this deserves, and cannot but secure, the cordial sympathy and co-operation of the University.

When I had the honour of addressing the Senate a year ago, I dwelt at some length on the precautions that had been taken by the Syndicate to secure, so far as this might be possible by rules, uniformity in the standards and results of examination from year to year. Our shortcomings in this respect have since been conspicuously brought to public notice by a diagram published in the Calcutta Gazette in connection with a Resolution by the Government of Bengal on the Provincial Educational Report for the last official year. The diagram shows by means of dotted lines the fluctuations in the percentage of success at the chief examinations of the University for the past seven years. And truly, when taken through that long period, the range of variation presented to our view by this candid critic of our shortcomings as a University—in which phrase I of course include the shortcomings of candidates as well as those of examiners—furnishes a sufficiently formidable indictment. For our consolation, however, I may remark that the fluctuations shown in the earlier years of the period are much more marked than that of the last year, when our precautionary rules were in full operation. I have now to report, for the information of the Senate, that still further steps have recently been taken in the same direction. In the first place, the Syndicate have decided to appoint Head Examiners in the various subjects for the First Arts as well as for the Entrance Examination. A good deal of opposition was raised to this proposal, on the ground that examiners of mature experience, such as those who are commonly appointed to conduct the First Arts Examination, need not be subjected to the same measure of check and control by a Head Examiner as has been found necessary at the Entrance Examination. The proposal, I repeat, met with considerable opposition both before and after its adoption; it was carried in the Syndicate by a narrow majority, and some of those who were appointed examiners have since resigned their appointments. It may therefore be considered for the present as being in the experimental stage; and possibly the results of the examination just concluded, the first to which the new rule was applied, may throw some light on the propriety of retaining it permanently.

Another rule of considerable importance affecting the B A. Examination has recently been sanctioned by the Senate. Complaints have from time to time been made that at the B. A. Examination questions have been set outside the prescribed limits of the subject, or that undue attention has been paid to the less important parts of the course, or that the questions were in other respects open to objection. A Board of Revising Examiners is therefore to be appointed for the future, whose duty it will be to see that the questions set by each examiner in his particular subject are not open to any of these objections. The carrying out of this resolution will not, I fear, be free from difficulties, but I trust that means may be devised for surmounting them.

Little need be said regarding the results of examinations in Law, Medicine, and Engineering. There is no lack of institutions for teaching the course in Law; and the number of successful candidates for the degree of Bachelor in Law rose last year from 110 to 145. For Medicine and Engineering there is only one affiliated college in each case; the obvious reason being that hospitals and workshops of the requisite standard of excellence can only be maintained at great cost, and on a scale to which the resources of Government alone are generally equal. And it is clear that without adjuncts of this kind, up to a high standard of completeness and efficiency—unless we have a hospital equipped with all modern improvements, whose wards are filled with a constant succession of patients suffering from a great variety of diseases, or, again, unless we have the appliances and machinery which a good workshop in full swing provides—the instruction that can be imparted in the subjects of medicine and engineering will be shorn of all that gives it practical value.

There was a fair increase, from 16 to 28, in the number of those who passed the final examination in Medicine. But when we compare this outturn with the large number of students in the College—more than 500, I believe—it is clear that there must be very serious wastage occurring at some point of the course. It has been ascertained that large numbers of students leave the College about the middle of the five-years' course on finding that they have no aptitude or not sufficient industry for medical studies. Three or four years of their time have therefore been absolutely thrown away. The Government of Bengal has accordingly decided to introduce a test-examination of the students of the College at the close of every year in which an examination of the University is not held; and I have little doubt that this will supply the students with a much-needed incentive to industry from the outset, and will also have the effect of sending up a larger number of better prepared students to the examinations of the University.

The financial position of the University is satisfactory. Unlike some other Indian Universities, we ask for no contribution from Provincial or Imperial revenues; our fee-fund enables us to pay our way, and also to put something by for emergencies. Within the last four years, the fee-fund has contributed Rs. 1,20,000 to the reserve fund, and the balance at credit of the reserve fund now stands at Rs. 2,35,000. All this and much more is needed if the University is to occupy a sound financial position with regard to future calls upon its resources. An extension of the University buildings will probably be needed before long; and questions like the establishment of University Professorships for the endowment of research can only be taken up when the reserve fund is much larger than it now is. I may mention that under recent regulations the Premchand Roychand studentships are now applied to the promotion of research. The studentships, which are of the value of Rs. 1,400 a year for five years, are now awarded in the first instance for a term of two years, during which the student is expected to carry on some special investigation or work in the subjects in which the scholarship was awarded, namely, literary subjects and scientific subjects in alternate years. At the close of the first period, the studentship is awarded for a further term of three years, provided the student satisfies the Syndicate that he has carried out such investigation or work, and engages to continue it during the latter term of the studentship. This regulation was brought into force three years ago, and as yet it is too early to anticipate its results.

The past year has not left us free from the vicissitudes which attend all human institutions, and we have again to deplore the loss of many of our Fellows who have been removed from us by the hand of death. To those whose work among us is over a few memorial words are due.

The dignified and venerable presence of Raja Siva Prasad of Benares was not a familiar figure within these walls, but he has left behind him a name and an example which all may emulate and profit by. In his early years Sir William Muir wrote of him :—"Siva Prasad surpasses all his fellow countrymen that I have met with in highness of moral and intellectual aspiration, and in mental cultivation." Fortunately for the people among whom he lived, he was induced to accept an appointment under Government, at first in the Political Department, but latterly, and for the best years of his life, in the Department of Education, in which he rose to one of the highest posts. He was a strenuous advocate of the vernacular education of the masses, and he made his personal influence closely and most beneficially felt over a wide tract of country and among a large circle of subordinates. His uprightness, his devotion to duty, and his conspicuous services to the Government, secured for him the title of Raja, a Companionship of the Star of India, and a jaghir of nearly 2,000 acres of land. His personal bravery was attested by the war-medal bestowed on him for intrepid conduct in the field. "I declare from my inmost conscience," wrote an English friend to him 20 years ago on his retirement from the service, "I declare that I never knew you to do anything which now in my old age I would wish undone, nothing crooked, nothing low, mean or dishonourable, or that was not marked by the strictest rectitude and integrity, and by conscientious regard for the masses of the people with whom you and I had to do."

Of the late Dr. Trailokyanath Mitra, I cannot do better than read the Minute in which the Faculty of Law recorded their sense of the loss which the University had sustained by his death :—

"The Faculty have heard with deep regret of the sudden death of Dr. Trailokyanath Mitra. Dr. Mitra obtained the highest distinction of the University in Arts and in Law, and adorned them in every sphere of life he was called on to occupy. One of the foremost members of the Faculty, he worthily represented them more than once in the Syndicate, and was their President elect for the ensuing year, when he passed away. As a member of the Bar, he was distinguished for his sound knowledge of law, for his effective advocacy, and for thorough conscientiousness in the discharge of his duties. His lectures on The Hindu Widow are among the most valuable in the Tagore Law Series. The Faculty resolve to place on record their deep sense of the loss they have sustained by his death, and their high appreciation of his character and attainments."

And in the Senate the following tribute was paid to his memory :—"The Senate could not allow the occasion to pass, without giving expression to their deep sense of the great and even irreparable loss which not only the University, but public bodies generally, and indeed the entire community, had sustained by the untimely and sudden death of Dr. Trailokyanath Mitra."

The tragic circumstances attending the death of Mr. A. M. Nash will be fresh in the minds of the Senate. A man of distinguished ability and unwearied industry, he devoted his leisure for many years to elaborate researches into a most interesting and difficult branch of pure mathematics, the Theory of Numbers. His contributions to some of the leading mathematical journals of England were well known ; and had he lived, his investigations would in all probability have widely extended the bounds of that fascinating science which he had made his own. He was not a frequent speaker at our meetings, but whenever he rose to address us his brief utterances were marked by the strongest common sense. On his resignation of the office of Registrar, which he held for more than two years, the Syndicate placed on record a gratifying tribute to his services.

The death of Mr. W. H. Jobbins, late Superintendent of the Calcutta School of Art, inflicted a grievous, if only a temporary blow on the progress of art-education in Bengal. He was not only a painter of high merit, but a teacher who threw himself with enthusiasm into the important work of his school. The rapid increase in the number of his pupils, and the high quality of the work turned out by them—work which attracted the admiring notice of more than one Viceroy, and was declared to closely approach in some branches the highest European standards—testified to the success of his efforts in the development of industrial art in Bengal.

While other men might inspire admiration for the brilliancy of their qualities, the chief characteristic of Krishnabihari Sen was that he was loved. I do not remember to have witnessed at any time a more spontaneous and genuine an outburst of feeling than was evoked by the news of his death nine months ago. In him I lost a personal friend of many years, for whose unassuming goodness and the rare sincerity of his character I had a profound regard. He seemed to breathe a purer and serener air than most. No persecution daunted him ; poverty did not disturb him ; for of these afflictions too he had his share. He lived his life quietly and harmoniously ; striving after the free and equal development of all his faculties, moral, intellectual, and spiritual ; governed throughout by a high ideal. In his work as a teacher he was inspired by lofty aims. Far beyond the range and scope of examinations, which bound the vision of too many teachers, he felt a keen, almost a painful responsibility for the welfare of the young lives committed to his charge, and for the development of their characters along the lines of uprightness and honour. Every incident of college life supplied him with a text upon which to preach a brief sermon by the way, trying with all his heart to inspire his pupils with his own love of goodness and truth.

Graduates of the Calcutta University—such of you as have received your degrees this day, and to whom, in accordance with recognised precedent, I should now address a word of counsel and encouragement—to you I would say, study the life and humbly emulate the character of Krishnabihari Sen, a man as great to my mind in some respects as his greater brother. His life affords an object lesson within the reach of all, which all may study, and all who do so will study it with profit.

The Vice-Chancellor then declared the Convocation closed.

442. READ the Minutes of the Syndicate, dated the 8th February, 1896.

The Vice-Chancellor, having laid before the Syndicate certain considerations, invited them to reconsider the resolution of the 8th February, reflecting on the action of the Registrar.

In answer to an inquiry whether the Registrar wished the question to be re-opened, the Registrar stated that the fact of his having sent in his resignation meant that he was dissatisfied with the resolution passed on the 8th February, and that he desired that it might be reconsidered.

The Syndicate then resolved that the question should be taken into consideration.

After discussion, the following resolution was passed:—

"That having taken into consideration the further materials now placed before them by the Registrar, the Syndicate unanimously resolve that, as it was not intended to convey censure on the Registrar, and as they are satisfied that he had the interests of University discipline in view, the first resolution of the 8th February be now withdrawn."

RESOLVED ALSO—

That a foot-note drawing attention to the above resolution be appended to the first resolution of the 8th February.

Upon this the Registrar withdrew his resignation.

The Minutes of the 8th February were then confirmed.

443. The Registrar reported that Dr. O'Brien and Mr. Abdur Rahman had withdrawn from the Committee appointed under the second resolution of 8th February, 1896.

RESOLVED—

That the remaining members be requested to continue the enquiry.

444. Read an endorsement from the Principal, Medical College, Calcutta, forwarding an application from certain Mahommedan students of the College, praying that, on account of the Ramzan, the Preliminary Scientific and First L. M. S. Examinations may be put off for a week.

Read also a letter from Mr. A. F. M. Abdur Rahman, forwarding a similar application.

RESOLVED—

503. THE following papers, which were circulated to the members of the Faculty before the meeting, were taken as read :—

(1). The two letters from the Principal and one of the Professors of the Patna College (printed in the Minutes for 1894-95, pages 133-138), suggesting that the unsuccessful B. A. candidates should be exempted from further attendance at College lectures for six months, as required under the existing rules.

(2). The following opinions from the Heads of Affiliated Institutions on the points raised in the letters above referred to :—

Information supplied by the Heads of Affiliated Institutions as to the arrangements made by them for the teaching of the unsuccessful B. A. candidates and their opinions on the letters from the Principal and one of the Professors of the Patna College, suggesting that the unsuccessful B. A. candidates should be exempted from further attendance at College lectures for six months as required under the existing rules.

From the Principal, Rajshahye College,—dated the 24th September, 1894.

IN reply to your memo. No. 394, dated the 14th August, 1894, I have the honour to state that I think Mr. Ewbank has quite made out his case, so also has Mr. James.

But I beg to propose a remedy different from theirs, which I know will be most agreeable to the students ; which will greatly improve the efficiency of students ; which will diminish cramming, that unspeakable bane and curse of 19th Century education, which everybody denounces, but which nobody will move a little finger to remove ; a plan also which will be beneficial to the finances of the University, and presumably agreeable to its Senate and Syndicate ; and which will vastly improve the finances of all Colleges, especially of Mofussil Colleges.

My plan is briefly this :—Let a failed B. A. student be compelled, when he appears a second time in the B. A. Examination, to pass only in the subject or subjects in which he failed the first time. Let him be compelled to pay for lectures for six months as at present. But let him be compelled to attend lectures only in the subjects in which he failed. Let a rule be passed with the approval of the University that if failed students give trouble by asking for separate lectures, they shall be heavily fined. For Mr. James in this matter points out a real Professor's grievance that tends to interfere with discipline, but that fines could easily correct. Only, Principals do not like to impose fines in this particular case, unless the University will approve by Circular of their action. Let each failed student pay, as fees for the six months of his attendance, two rupees above the College fee, for every subject in which he failed, e. g., the College fee is Rs. 5, and a student failed in English, therefore he must pay Rs. 7 a month, or Rs. 12 extra for the six months of attendance. Let him also pay Rs. 2 extra for every subject in which he failed to the University, when he appears the second time, e. g., he failed in English ;—the University B. A. fee is Rs. 30, therefore he ought to pay Rs. 32, and if he failed in English and Mathematics, then he would have to pay Rs. 34.

I am convinced that the students would welcome this change, because they would gladly pay heavily if they were compelled only to pass in the subjects in which they failed the first time.

3. Finance is the great and terrible crux in India. Every thing must give way to it, except, of course, morality and justice. But in view of the awful incubus of financial difficulty, minor inconveniences must certainly stand over for the present. A strong effort must be made to render high English education as nearly self-supporting as possible.

4. Mofussil Colleges are in positive danger of destruction from the financial difficulty. And there are two things that especially press upon them at present—

(1.) Such minor changes as Mr. Ewbank proposes, which would rob them of fees.

(2.) The great severity of the B. A. Examination. This is caused not so much by absurdly severe question papers, as by the excessively low marks that Examiners now give to B. A. answers. For there can be no doubt that B. A. Examiners in English have, in recent [illegible] fallen into the habit of giving such desperately low marks that really good students are ploughed. And the consequence is that students now refuse to go up for the B. A.

Examination. They join the Seebpore and Medical Colleges. Good students have declared to me, over and over again, that the B. A. Examination, especially in English, has, within the last three years, become so monstrously difficult, that they consider it only a waste of time to study for it.

No wonder that the number of B A. and M. A. students is so small!

Every thing, consequently, that tends, as Mr. Ewbank's proposal does, to diminish the fees of Mofussil Colleges, should carefully be avoided.

For if this is not done, the following is what may probably happen :—

5. The people in the Mofussil who earnestly desire local Colleges, when they see the existence of these Colleges endangered by financial difficulties, may set up an agitation in favour of the abolition of Presidency Colleges, in order that the money so saved may be given to perishing Mofussil Colleges, where intellectual darkness, poverty, and barbarism prevail. They will contend that in the Metropolis, the rich classes can pay for the whole of their education. This in itself would be one of the greatest of evils. For there can be nothing wiser than the present policy of Government to have a model College in every Presidency. It would also be a terrible blow to Christianity. For all the best Christian Colleges are in the Metropolis of the province, and in the receipt of good grants from Government.

But, deplorable and disastrous though this result would be, it is what things are rapidly tending to, unless the financial condition of Mofussil Colleges can be improved by every method that ingenuity can devise.

6. Some, of course, will say that the Zemindars and Rajas of the district ought to endow Mofussil Colleges.

That is true, if the circumstances of some Mofussil districts were not peculiar.

Take for instance this district of Rajshahye. It is a vast silk-producing district. But now raw silk has fallen from 40 rupees a seer in 1873, to 16 rupees a seer in 1894, owing [illegible] the demonetizing of silver in 1873. Consequent-[illegible] Zemindars and Rajas, who used to get seven rupees [illegible] a for their lands for the production of mulberry, [illegible] only 12 annas or one rupee a bigha for the growth [illegible] as the silk trade has been ruined.

And they may very naturally argue that if a false system of Currency for which they are not to blame has ruined them, they cannot be expected to support the local College, which must find funds from Government.

Not only, therefore, ought every thing that diminishes the College fees (as Mr. Ewbank's proposal does) be objected to, but the University, by all its legislation, ought, in my opinion, to try to improve the financial condition of Mofussil Colleges.

From the Principal, General Assembly's Institution,—Church of Scotland Mission, Calcutta, 4th October, 1894.

IN your communication No. 280 of date 14th August, 1894, you request information for the Syndicate on two points:—(1) What special arrangements, if any, are made for the teaching of unsuccessful B. A. candidates who take admission to the fourth-year class; and (2) my opinion generally upon the question of the exemption from further attendance of unsuccessful B. A. candidates, as is done with students who complete their attendances, but do not "sit."

I would first take up (2), which is a question requiring a wider outlook than (1), which concerns merely the practice obtaining in this College. I take the liberty of making extracts from a paper I have already published.

"Should failed B. A.'s be required to attend College lectures again?

"First, in order to clear the ground for definite issues, let me say what the claim for the failed B. A.'s is not.

"This is not a question of six months' further attendance versus four months or nine months or twelve months. It is the general question of requiring further attendance from failed candidates or dispensing with it entirely.

"Nor is it a question of failed B. A.'s as distinguished from failed F. A.'s or failed Entrants. An attempt is made to draw such a distinction. It is alleged that students of four years' standing are better able to master 3rd and 4th-year subjects by themselves, independent of College Professors, than students of two years' standing are able by themselves to master first and 2nd-year subje[illegible] In other words, failed B. A.'s are better able to get up [illegible] subjects by private study than failed F. A.'s to get up [illegible] subjects. So stated that contention is its own refu[illegible]niversit[illegible] B. A. subjects are surely harder than F. A. subj[illegible] wrong in two years' intelligence, at least they ought to be so: if so, the difficulty for failed B. A.'s and for failed F. A.'s must be very much on a par, and further attendance should be compulsory in both cases or be dispensed with in both cases. Supposing, as is alleged, that failed B. A. students are better able to study by themselves than failed F. A.'s, then they ought also to do better under the present system.

"That is not the case, as the following figures show:—

PERCENTAGES OF PASSES AMONG THE TWO SORTS OF CANDIDATES.

| | | B. A. | F. A. |
|---|---|---|---|
| | new | 100 | 100 |
| 1891. | ——— = | —— | —— |
| | failed | 42 | 55 |
| | new | 100 | 100 |
| 1892. | ——— = | —— | —— |
| | failed | 88 | 106 |
| | new | 100 | 100 |
| 1893. | ——— = | —— | —— |
| | failed | 75 | 69 |

"The failed F. A.'s have, therefore, shown themselves, relatively to new candidates, better men than failed B. A.'s. They have the better right, therefore, by the reasoning of my opponents, to exemption from further attendance at lectures.

"Nor is this a question to be decided in favour of exemption from further attendance by quoting the cases of teachers, or of students who have made their attendances, but have never appeared at the examination. The case of teachers is confessedly an anomaly. In virtue of six months spent in teaching, they are permitted to appear for a second trial for their B. A. without having attended further lectures. But their case proves too much. For if a man has taught for two years after F. A., he can appear at the B. A. Examination without having attended any lectures. Arguing from the analogy of the teacher, I ought to contend for doing away with all compulsory attendance at lectures.

As I am told that anomalous privilege of the teacher concession to the Education Department, as an inducement to students to devote themselves for a time to teaching.

"As regards students who have made their attendances but have never appeared at the examination, and who may appear any subsequent year they please without further attendance, the argument from their case ignores the fundamental distinction that failed students have been tried and found not prepared, whereas the other class has not been tried. No doubt the class referred to may appear in a subsequent year without having been taught the new books, still, who does not contend that something more must be acquired from College than mere knowledge of the contents of text-books? It cannot be averred that the students who have never appeared at the examination have not acquired that real and permanent education which is the most important acquirement.

"But if the cases of teachers and of the aforesaid students are anomalous, surely the right course is to have the anomalies removed. Only a very few come under these two cases. To infer from the cases of these few, what we should do with a large class of cases is a glaring case of arguing from the particular to the general.

"It is not proposed in the motion brought before the Faculty of Arts, July 7th, that failed candidates should be exempted from attendance in any subject in which they may have passed. That proposal would have some reason in it.

"The ground being now cleared, we may ask: if this claim for failed B. A.'s is none of the above, what is it? It is a claim that the fundamental principle of our University should be altered, and that failed B. A.'s should constitute a class by themselves outside the present principle. The fundamental principle of the University is that to be taught is a requisite condition of being examined. In accordance with that principle, the University rightly says to the failed student: 'you have not been taught; before you appear again, you must show reasonable evidence of having been taught.'

"One argument, apparently forcible, is advanced in favour of exemption. It is that failed B. A.'s are not taught, at least not properly taught. Figures are guidance in the August number of the University Magazine, s[illegible]-ing that failed candidates have not passed any University since further attendance was made compulsory, the wrong in did previous to 1880, when further attendance was voluntary. The figures are :—

PERCENTAGES OF PASSES AMONG THE TWO SORTS OF CANDIDATES.

Under the old rule in 1879.

$$\frac{\text{new}}{\text{failed}} = \frac{100}{73}$$

Under the new rule.

| | 1880. | 1887. | 1888. | 1889. | 1890. | 1891. | 1892. | 1893. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| new / failed = | 100 / 70 | 100 / 61 | 100 / 75 | 100 / 74 | 100 / 51 | 100 / 42 | 100 / 88 | 100 / 75 |

" Only one year's result under the old rule is given, and that, surely, is not a sufficient basis for instituting a comparison. But we can get figures for other two years also under the old rule which have been overlooked, viz. :—

In 1877, $\frac{\text{new}}{\text{failed}} = \frac{100}{40}$ and in 1878, $\frac{\text{new}}{\text{failed}} = \frac{100}{61}$

"These additional figures quite alter the aspect of things. The average relative percentage under the present rule is 67, while the average percentage under the old rule is only 58. Can anything be more decisively in favour of the present rule?

" If anything else is required to justify the present system, we may look to the experience of Madras, recorded in the Indian Journal of Education for November 1893. That Journal rejoices over the change from 'exemption' to 'compulsory attendance' recently made by Madras University in the case of failed B.A.'s and failed Entrants, and laments that attendance has not been made compulsory for failed F. A.'s as well. The same extract likewise shows that exemption is not the cry of the students. It says :—'Principals of Colleges well know how unsatisfactory is the existing condition of affairs as regards candidates who fail at this examination [the F. A.] and who come flocking for admission to their Colleges for one term only, viz., the second term of each year, the term immediately preceding each F. A. Examination as the old certificates are accepted as sufficient."

"Some Professors call for the exemption of failed students from compulsory attendance in order that they may get rid of them as a confusion and disturbance in the classes. Let them learn from the Madras experience that they will not thus be rid of the failed students, and that the last state will be worse than the first."

In answer to the first part of your question, I beg to say that although no separate teaching for failed B. A.'s is provided in this College, the arrangements for the 4th-year teaching are intended to meet their case.

In English, all the new books are gone over in the 4th-year.

In Mathematics, the whole B. A. Course is generally finished in the 3rd-year, and all the books are revised in the 4th-year.

In Philosophy, during the 4th-year, the course is finished, and then the more important portions of the whole are revised.

In Sanskrit, during the 4th-year, the new books are finished and old and new revised so far as possible.

In Physics and Chemistry, the more difficult portions are revised in the 4th-year.

In History the course is finished during the 4th-year, and the remainder of the session is then occupied with the study of special points or aspects of the history.

The members of the staff whom I have consulted are of opinion that the failed B. A.'s should be obliged to join early in the 4th-year session.

From the Lady Principal, Bethune College,—dated 16th October, 1894.

I HAVE the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your endorsement No. 394, dated 14th August, 1894, and to state, in reply, that the question raised in the letters addressed to you by Messrs. Ewbank and James does not affect female candidates, who may, under the regulations, be admitted to the examination without studying in an affiliated institution.

As regards "failed" students who join year class, we provide for teaching them separate portions of the course as are new, and there is no University of going over in the regular class. wrong in

From the Rector, St. Xavier's College, Calcutta,—dated the 8th November, 1894.

IN answer to your No. 394, dated 14th August, 1894, appended to the letters of Messrs. Ewbank and James, three issues are raised : (1) What special arrangements are made for the teaching of unsuccessful B. A. candidates ; (2) whether it would not be advisable to cancel the regulation which requires from such students a six-months' attendance at lectures ; and (3) if not, whether their position is not anomalous compared with that of those students who, after completing a two-years' attendance and foregoing the examination, are allowed on any future occasion to sit for the examination without any further attendance at lectures. I have the honour to submit the following remarks :—

(1). No separate arrangements, as such, are made for the instruction of unsuccessful candidates, but as will appear in answer to question (2), this does not prevent them from drawing certain distinct advantages by attending our lectures for another six months.

(2). As to the cancelling of the six-months' regulation, I am very strongly against such a step. If a student has failed in one or more subjects, it follows that his knowledge of that subject or subjects is deficient. Can this deficiency be as well supplied by private study as by further attendance at lectures? I think not. With regard to the subjects in which he has failed, he has the advantage, by attending lectures, of seeing a good part of the subject in class, and is, moreover, helped by the notes of the Professor as well as by private explanations out of class. In English, as it is impossible to see the whole course thoroughly in class, those subjects are particularly insisted on which are new to the failed students. Besides, towards the end of the session, lectures out of the usual routine are given so as to help the students to see their course more leisurely. As regards Philosophy, the 4th-year students are unengaged at the time that lectures in Philosophy are being delivered to the 3rd-year, so that they have the advantage, by attending the double course of lectures, of seeing the better part of their course anew. Nobody, I think, would care to deny that as regards Mathematics and the Natural Sciences, students are greatly [illegible]ed by the lectures and private help of the Professors. The latter are always willing to see their students in class, to answer their difficulties, and to help them with notes. This is certainly a great advantage to failed students, and tantamount to any separate arrangements that might be made in favour of such students.

Nor do I think it sufficient that the students be obliged to attend lectures only in the subjects in which they have failed. It is a matter of common experience that students, who fail in one subject one year, often fail in some subject the next year. So that if students were to attend lectures only in the subject in which they had failed, there would be reason to fear that they would neglect other subjects, and thus in avoiding one danger would fall into another.

The English course is changed partly every year: the course of Philosophy has been extended: Sanskrit is responsible for a large number of the B. A. failures: the course of Higher Mathematics, of Physical Science and of Chemistry, is with difficulty completed in two years—so that in my opinion it is necessary that the students should keep in touch with their Professors as an immediate preparation for the examination.

There are only two cases in which this attendance at lectures may be considered an unnecessary burden: (1) when the student is remarkably intelligent, and (2) when a student attends College for the simple purpose of putting in his percentage of attendance. The first case is exceptional, and the University can hardly be asked to legislate for particular cases; students of the second class have not my sympathy, nor I believe would the University be inclined to modify its regulations to suit their convenience.

The help spoken of as accorded to failed students is given as a matter of course, in St. Xavier's College, while they attend the classes and pay the College fee. Of those students, however, who have no lectures to put in and who study at home, no fee can well be asked, and hence they are not entitled to the special help which the Professors are ready to give to regular students. In fact, should it be decided that unsuccessful candidates of one year shall be allowed to sit for the examination in any future year, without attending lectures, few Colleges, I fear, would accept such students or keep them on the rolls. At present the number of students who do not attend lectures is [illegible] small, and hence no difficulty is raised, but if their nu[illegible] were swelled by the admission of failed students, [illegible] College would be sending up, for the examination, [illegible] wrong in proportion of candidates of whose success there [illegible] no assurance, and it might be to the advantage of some enterprising institution to gather these derelicts into its fold, and to take its chance of showing a fair result of passes at each examination.

(3). With regard to the third question, as to whether it is not anomalous to insist on unsuccessful candidates putting in six months' lectures, whereas their class-fellows who did not try the examination have what is called a "season ticket" to go up when they like, I beg to state that if anomaly there be, it can as well be met by abolishing the "season ticket" and making these students also put in their six months' attendance.

Yet, from the point of view of the University, I do not see the anomaly. The University allows these students to go up for the examination, because, having completed their attendance at lectures for two years, it believes them to be efficient, just as it allowed the unsuccessful candidates to try the examination. And while it believes in their efficiency, there is no reason why they should not be admitted to the examination. The unsuccessful candidates, however, have proved their deficiency, and the University very rightly sends them back to College to remedy that deficiency.

From the Principal, Behar National College, Bankipur,—dated the 10th November, 1894.

WITH reference to your memo. No. 394, dated the 14th August, 1894, inviting opinions about the contents of the letter annexed to it, and for information as to what special arrangements are made in this College for the teaching of unsuccessful B. A. candidates, I beg to submit the following remarks:—

1. Though more or less frequent according to various subjects, there is always some alteration in the University curriculum. English changes, nearly by half, from year to year, and subjects like Philosophy change at intervals of utmost three or four years. But no doubt there is a change [illegible] the change is considerable. Besides this, the [illegible] cannot be denied that the plucked candidates labour [illegible]ed a feeling of diffidence, arising from unsuccess, which [illegible] them, to a large extent, unable to depend solely [illegible]selves for further preparation. It therefore stands [illegible]eason that the plucked candidates, like the other regular students, may require help from the College, and the earnestness and eagerness with which they attend to lectures, at least in this College, where the 4th-year class is comparatively small, bear out the fact that their attendance is quite profitable for them. Leaving only an excepted few, it is absolutely certain that the plucked candidates, in general, fall short of the mark which is expected from one who has advantageously undergone a course of discipline in, and derived help from, the College to which he may belong for a regular course of two years. In case, therefore, if this six months' attendance, in course of which all their deficiency is likely to be made up, be dispensed with, it may rightly be apprehended that the liberal policy will simply increase the failure.

2. As the addition of the plucked candidates to the 4th-year class is considered to be an inconvenience, it is proposed that they should attend lectures at their option. But supposing th[illegible]hey require help only during some of the hours, which are [illegible]ccessive, during the intervening hours they will either stroll about in the premises, or will remain in the class to cause greater inconvenience to its progress. So, if the presence of the plucked candidates be at all presumed to meddle with the class work, the remedy proposed will not cure the evil, but rather aggravate it. Moreover, the supposed inconvenience is likely to be worse in F. A., where the 2nd-year class in all Colleges receives a far more considerable accession of the plucked candidates.

3. In considering the case of the two classes of students, one of which appeared at the examination and the other did not, but only completed the required percentage of lectures, it does not seem reasonable or desirable, while one class will enjoy the privilege of being free from further College attendance, the other class may, with any degree of fairness, be placed under the restriction of attending lectures for an additional period of six months. I would, therefore, suggest that b[illegible] classes of students should be placed under the same restr[illegible] rather than that the same privilege should be accorded t[illegible]h, which will not only be prejudicial to the interests of so[illegible] education, but will also be attended with disastrous resu[illegible] the examinations.

4. Further, the alleged statement that a student [illegible] completing his lectures and not appearing in the ex[illegible] tion may try to extend his privilege indefinitely t[illegible] quent years is extremely doubtful, and I do not think that there can be any tendency among the students to turn the privilege into a license.

5. With regard to special arrangements for the convenience of the plucked students in the 4th-year class, I have to say that Psychology is taught for three extra hours, and that each year the new books in the English course are held over to be taught in the next 4th-year and not in the 3rd-year class.

From the Offg. Principal, Krishnagar College,—dated the 10th November, 1894.

IN reference to your memo. No. 394, dated the 14th August, 1894, forwarding two letters from Messrs. A. Ewbank and H. R. James of the Patna College, I have the honour to make the following remarks :—

In para. 5 of Mr. Ewbank's letter, he says that a student who has completed a course of study holds "a season ticket, which will admit him not only to the examination then impending, but to its successors in the years that will follow:" surely this is a mistake; the student holds a ticket for a single journey only, and Mr. Ewbank's opinion is that it should be converted into a season ticket: the advisability of this proposal is the matter to be considered.

I am of opinion that a very large majority of those who fail to satisfy the Examiners are in real need of more lectures: I cannot, therefore, recommend the abrogation of the present rule.

In this College, the Mathematical Lecturer is the only one of my colleagues who endorses the views put forth by Messrs. Ewbank and James; the other Lecturers agree with me that a further course of lectures is necessary: to meet the wants of the failed students, the practice here is to leave until the last term of the two years' course those books that are new, so that the lectures may be equally useful to both classes of students, the failed and those that have not yet been up: in such subjects as [illegible]logy and Physical Science, the text-books remain[illegible] the same year after year, the Lecturers defer dealing [illegible] the more difficult portions until the failed students [illegible]n July; and the Lecturers state that they generally [illegible]at the old students are as much in need of instruc[illegible]hose recently promoted from the 3rd-year.

From the Principal, Ravenshaw College, Cuttack,—dated 10th November, 1894.

WITH reference to your No. 394, dated 14th August last, I have the honour to state that no special provision is made here for failed B. A. students: but when the time comes for revising the work of the year, preference is given to those subjects in which the failed students most require help.

As to the practical inconvenience of the present system, there is probably no difference of opinion among Professors and Lecturers. The objections to the entire abolition of all compulsory attendance for failed B. A. students appear to be :—

(1). That there are some subjects in which the text-books are partially altered from year to year. The new text-books cannot, as a rule, be mastered by the candidates without further assistance. This point was ably discussed and demonstrated [illegible] statistics in a recent number of the Indian Journal of Edu[illegible]

(2). A purely voluntary attendance might be objectionable from the point of view of College discipline, as there would be little or no hold on voluntary students attending or absenting themselves at pleasure.

(3). That the concession of the right to re-appear at a subsequent examination without having attended any further lectures, if made to failed B. A. students, will be clamorously demanded by failed F. A., and even by failed Entrance candidates.

If any concession be made, I am of opinion that it should be confined to subjects in which the text-books remain unchanged. Where the subjects are changed, I do not think it would be to the interest of the students themselves to exempt them from further attendance at lectures; the practical inconvenience entailed upon Lecturers seem unavoidable.

From the Principal, Tej Narayan Jubilee College, [illegible]hagalpur,—dated the 10th November, 1894.

IN reference to the question raised in the two le[illegible] accompanying your No. 394, dated the 14th August, 18[illegible]ndance I beg to state that it is in my opinion quite reason[illegible] and expedient that an attendance at lectures for a ce[illegible]niversit[illegible] term on the part of students plucked in the F. A. [illegible] wrong in

B. A. Examination should be insisted on, for such students being entitled to admission to either of the examinations on a future occasion. In this respect, I rather consider that the rule of the University is a little too lenient and goes not a sufficient length to meet the requirements, and I should regard it as expedient that the term for which attendance in the case of such students is at present required should be extended by two or three months, so as to cover the period for which work is done in a session in the 2nd and 4th-year classes in Colleges. The Principal of the Patna College raises a hypothetical case about two typical B. A. students, which serves indeed to invest his arguments to all appearance with strength. It may so happen, however, that of the two typical students X and Y, spoken of in his letter, X is much inferior to Y, that he enters the examination and fails in the majority of subjects—i. e., in two out of three in which he is examined,—that Y's preparation is tolerably well up to the mark or very nearly so, but that the latter being of a less sanguine temperament than X and wishing to avoid the stigma of a failure, which, in respect of some particular branch, he may anticipate as a contingency, or being grieved by some family trouble or suffering from ill-health, desists from going in for the examination, while his compeer X makes a venture—a rash one, as the result of the examination shows. Y is to be taken as the more discreet student of the two. The fact at all events cannot be disputed that X is a candidate of proved unfitness and inability, while the same thing cannot with certainty be asserted in respect of Y. I do not think it can be unfair, under the circumstances, to require X to attend lectures for a certain term again, at least in those subjects in which he has proved himself deficient, while Y is saved from such a necessity.

I do not perceive how there can be a probable connection, as the learned Principal of the Patna College points out, between the rule of six months' attendance for failed B. A. candidates and that for the continuous attendance in an institution for a like term on the part of Entrance candidates, seeing that the former class of candidates is not tied to a continuous attendance in any College. The University laid it down as a rule that students [illegible]ned in the F. A. Examination should, for qualifying themselves, upon a reasonably fair standard of preparation for admission to the B. A. Examination, study for two complete academical years in one College or more. The reason that dictated this rule should also suggest that a failed B. A. student, who had shown his inability to reach the pass standard for the particular occasion, should, to qualify himself for admission to the examination on another occasion, attend lectures again for a certain term. The object of the six months rule for plucked B. A. candidates can thus be traced in a natural way, that is, to the principle that students should be made to go through a proper course of preparation at College, and to do away with the rule would, in my opinion, be to strike at this very principle.

Looking at the rule from the standpoint from which Mr. James, Professor of Philosophy, Patna College, views it, I am indeed inclined to think that it entails a hardship on the plucked B. A. candidates in insisting on their attendance at lectures even in those subjects in which they may have passed, and in which the books may not have been changed. I am therefore for the rule being modified, so that it may require such students to attend lectures only in those subjects in which they have failed, as well as any in reference to which a change in the text-books may have been adopted. The objectionable features in the rule complained of by the Professor in his letter cannot exist when the rule has been changed thus. If I am permitted to put in a suggestion as regards the term of attendance, I may state that the term at present prescribed may be lengthened so as to include the whole period for which the 4th-year's class works in any session. An attendance like that spoken of by Mr. Ewbank in para. 8 of his letter, can but partially benefit the plucked students.

I beg to state, in conclusion, that no special arrangements are made in this College for the teaching of unsuccessful B. A. candidates who join the 4th-year's class, and that in the present condition of things this is not possible. I may observe, however, that in English the books that are substituted in place of those discarded from the old course are, for the benefit of the class of students mentioned, taken up and gone through [illegible] class.

From the Principal, Victoria College, Narail,—dated Narail, [illegible] November, 1894.

In reply to your memo. No. 394, dated University [illegible] August last, I have the honour to submit the [illegible] wrong in lines regarding the arrangements made for teaching the unsuccessful B. A. candidates who take admission into the 4th-year class in this College, and my opinion upon the question raised in the letters published with your memo.

For the convenience of the unsuccessful B. A. candidates, who take admission into the 4th-year class in this College, special care is taken to teach such books in the 3rd-year class as were included in the curriculum for the preceding B. A. Degree Examination, so that the unsuccessful candidates may go over the new books included in their course with the students who compete for the first time, systematically and regularly. As it is a Mofussil College, Professors help the unsuccessful candidates at other times than the regular College hours.

I am of opinion that if the unsuccessful B. A. candidates are not required to read at least for six months in any affiliated institution, they will not, of their own accord, take admission into any College, and the number of unsuccessful candidates at the B. A. Degree Examination is likely to be greater than at present.

From the Principal, Free Church of Scotland's Institution and Duff College,—dated Calcutta, the 14th November, 1894.

IN reply to your communication No. 394, dated the 14th August, 1894, enquiring what special arrangements, if any, are made for the teaching of unsuccessful B. A. candidates who take admission to the 4th-year class, I have the honour to state that no special arrangements are made for them in this College beyond arranging that the English, &c., text-books that may be new to them be left over to the 4th-year. They read in the classes with the regular students, and no special extra classes are opened for them.

As to the general opinion, I am of opinion that the rule requiring an additional six months' attendance on the part of failed students, should not be done away with. The doing away with it would, I believe, create new difficulties and more difficulties than it would remove. At [illegible] the time, I think that something should be done to [illegible] the growing practice on the part of non-failed be co[illegible] of postponing appearance at examinations. The B. A. E[illegible] a student who has prosecuted a regular course jects in of study for not less than two academical years and gained the required percentage need not appear at the first B. A. Examination thereafter, but may wait and appear at some subsequent one, is creating, I fear, in some instances, the pernicious habit of postponing preparation.

From the Principal, City College, Calcutta,—dated the 15th November, 1894.

I HAVE the honour to make the following observations on the question raised in the letters addressed to yourself, in July, 1893, by the Principal and one of the Professors of Patna College, regarding the position of unsuccessful B. A. candidates.

With reference to your inquiry as to what special arrangements are made for the teaching of such candidates, I beg [illegible] inform you that in English the work of the 4th-year class is [illegible] arranged as to suit the requirements of plucked students. The Professors of English distribute their work over the 3rd-year and 4th-year classes in such a way as to take up in the latter class those books which, not having formed a part of the B. A. course of the previous year, are new to plucked candidates. In other subjects, as the courses prescribed by the University do not change as regularly as in English; no special arrangements are made for the convenience of this description of students; neither does it appear to me that such arrangements are called for, when the course for successive years is the same.

Plucked candidates do not require to be instructed in a different way from ordinary students. In subjects in which their knowledge has been found to fall short of the University standard, they must, in order to acquire greater proficiency, go over the course again, attending lectures and submitting to class examinations like other students. Whether these lectures are profitable to ordinary students and plucked candidates must largely depend on the tact and ability of the Professors. I beg further to point out that, though the text-books in other subjects do not vary as regularly as in English, they do vary sometime[illegible] whenever this is the case, care is taken to provide le[illegible] on the new text-books in the 4th-year class.

The Calcutta University has hitherto enforced [illegible] University ance at lectures. It appears to me that so long [illegible] wrong in continues to be a fundamental principle of the relations between this University and those who seek its degrees, there is no reason for its being departed from, in the case of the particular class of students under consideration. In my humble opinion, it is unreasonable to assume that, while attendance at lectures is useful to ordinary students, it is not useful to those who have failed to pass an examination. When the text-books for two successive years are not the same, the necessity of attending lectures on the new books is the same for plucked candidates and others. It has been pointed out above that in English, provision is always made for lectures on the new books, which form half of the course, being given in the 4th-year class; and also that, whenever the books prescribed in any other subject are changed, the new books are taken up in the class which is joined by plucked candidates. Plucked students are, however, under no obligation to attend lectures in the 4th-year class; and should an unsuccessful candidate find that the part of the course, in any subject, which is being gone through in the 3rd-year class, is very important and difficult, he is quite free to attend lectures in that class. Even when the text-books do not change, a candidate who has failed in a subject cannot claim to be above the necessity of attending lectures or undergoing class examinations in that subject at least. As to the subjects in which a plucked candidate has passed, it is very often found that a student who gets pass-marks in a particular subject at one examination fails in it at a subsequent examination. Except where the marks obtained show a high degree of proficiency, the mere fact of a student's passing in a certain subject in one particular year is not an adequate ground for his being left entirely to himself in that branch of his studies. So long as the University refuses to exempt plucked candidates from examination in subjects in which they have once passed, it cannot, without inconsistency, exempt them from attendance at lectures even in these subjects. It must be admitted, however, that sometimes the marks obtained by unsuccessful candidates in certain subjects indicate such proficiency as to make it equitable that they should not be required to attend lectures in these subjects, so that they may devote more time to subjects in which they are weak. To meet the requirements of such cases, a rule may be laid down to empower Principals of Colleges to exempt students from attendance at lectures in subjects in which they are satisfied, from the marks obtained in the University examination or in class examinations, that further attendance is not necessary.

In English, it has been stated above, the arrangement made in the 4th-year class is quite as satisfactory for plucked candidates as for others; and this is the subject which is of the greatest practical importance to the vast majority of students, and which they find to be the most difficult. A reference to the figures of the last five years will show that the percentage of failures is the heaviest in English, both in the A. and the B. course. With the exception of the A. course candidates in 1892, and leaving out the twelve candidates who took Zoology, Biology, Botany and Geology in 1889, the percentage of failures has always been highest in English during the last five years; sometimes it has been very much higher than in other subjects. If we examine the figures indicating the number of candidates who failed in one subject only during the years referred to, we also find that the examination in English is the hardest. In 1889, the total number of candidates who failed in one subject only was 252, to which English contributed 85; in 1890 the corresponding figures were 190 and 105; in 1891 they were 205 and 99; in 1892 they were 310 and 58; in 1893 they were 170 and 104. We thus find that English offers the greatest difficulty to most students, and it is very gratifying that with regard to this most difficult part of their course, the position of plucked candidates is not at all less advantageous than that of other students in the 4th-year class.

I beg to draw your attention to the fact that Mr. Ewbank, in discussing the question, strengthens his position by assuming that he is dealing only with the case of a plucked student of a high order of merit, one who "passes in all subjects but one" and "shows more than what we may call a third-class quality knowledge." I think the University would not be prepared to frame a complicated body of rules, grouping plucked students into different classes according to merit, granting the privilege of non-attendance to some and withholding it from others. That would, I am afraid, not be practicable. On the other hand, it would be unreasonable to grant to all plucked students a privilege which, Mr. Ewbank must have could not be fairly asked for any except those to University his description might apply. wrong in

I beg to observe that the rule under consideration should, in my opinion, be so amended as to compel plucked candidates to take their admission not later than the 15th of July, and to attend till the end of the session. The date for depositing the examination-fee may also be so altered as to extend the time for attending lectures. Under the present rule, unsuccessful candidates may get admitted on or about the 25th August and attend lectures for about two months and a half only. The change in the rule suggested above would convert the rule into a more substantial provision for the education of students than it can be in its present form. I also think that, among candidates who have failed to appear at an examination, those alone should be exempted from further attendance in all or some of the subjects whose proficiency in those subjects, as tested by class examinations, may be considered by the Principals of the Colleges to which they belonged to be such as to justify such exemption.

From the Principal, Presidency College,—dated the 15th November, 1894.

WITH reference to your endorsement No. 394, dated the 14th August, 1894, I have the honour to state that no special arrangement is made in this College for the teaching of unsuccessful B. A. candidates who take admission to the 4th-year class.

From the Principal, Ripon College, Calcutta,—dated the 15th November, 1894.

IN reply to your endorsement No. 394, dated 14th August, 1894, I have the honour to state that the special arrangement for the teaching of unsuccessful B. A. candidates who take admission to the 4th-year class in the Ripon College, is that in the subject of English books which did not form a part of the course for the B. A. Examination of the particular year in which the candidate failed to pass, but which form a part of the course of the next year's B. A. Examination, are lectured upon in the 4th-year, having been left out in the 3rd-year lectures expressly with the object that the unsuccessful candidates taking admission to the 4th-year class may have the benefit of these lectures upon the new books.

As to the question raised in the two letters referred to in your endorsement, it seems to me that whenever there is a change in the subjects of the B. A. course, from one year to another, in the matter of compulsory attendance at lectures, unsuccessful B. A. candidates must be in the same position with the candidates who will appear for the first time ; and the same reasons which have persuaded the University authorities to pass the rule requiring attendance at lectures on the part of the B. A. candidates must apply to the case of unsuccessful candidates also. It will be found, I believe, that so far as the subject of English is concerned, there is generally a change in the course prescribed from year to year, and on the principle, therefore, which has hitherto guided the action of the University authorities, unsuccessful B. A. candidates cannot claim an absolute exemption from attendance at College lectures. On the other hand, it would seem unreasonable to assume that unsuccessful candidates do not at all profit by an opportunity of revising a great part of the subjects of examination for another six months, specially as their deficiency has been made manifest by their failure in the last examination.

On these considerations, my humble opinion is in favour of the present rules, and that no alteration of them is called for.

From the Principal, Sanskrit College,—dated the 15th November, 1894.

WITH reference to your endorsement No. 394, dated the 14th August, 1894, forwarding copies of letters from Messrs. Ewbank and James to yourself, and asking for an expression of opinion on the question raised in the letters, I have the honour to say that the 3rd and 4th-year students of the Sanskrit College study their English subjects, that is, all the subjects except Sanskrit, in the Presidency College.

I have, therefore, not the necessary experience to enable me to express an opinion on the subject.

From the Principal, Berhampore College,—dated the 16th November, 1894.

WITH regard to your circular No. 394, dated the ... August, 1894, forwarding for consideration and opi...

proposal to rescind the rule by which candidates who have failed to pass the B. A. Examination are required to attend a certain percentage of College lectures before they are allowed to appear at any subsequent examination for that degree, I have the honour to submit the following observations :—

In favour of the proposed change, it is argued that " the existing rule is unnecessary, because these students must have all passed through the ordinary four years' course, and may be presumed to have derived such benefit as can be expected from College discipline."

To this the reply is obvious that a College benefits students not merely by its regular discipline, but also by the liberal education it imparts through lectures, in the absence of which the candidates' preparation for examinations would be turned very much, in this country at least, into a matter of unintelligent cram and mechanical routine.

Next, it is argued that " it is unreasonable to compel plucked candidates to attend lectures of the latter half of a College course extended over two years and designed for students whose needs and circumstances are different, that is to say, for the new 4th-year class, who are going over the subject for the first time."

This inconvenience obviously does not arise in the case of a subject like English, where the text-books change partially every year, for, as I shall note below, the general practice is to lecture in the 4th-year class on the books which are new to the plucked candidates. Whereas, in Philosophy, the text-books remain the same from year to year, some inconvenience may be apprehended to arise from the circumstance of the Professor having to repeat explanations and notes of last year, without any supplementary lectures, to a considerable number in the class ; but I have always felt, and I believe the experience of teachers generally will bear me out in this, that there is great virtue in repetition,—except for a few very intelligent students, who are not usually found in the ranks of the great army of the plucked, repetition of truths and principles with fresh accompaniments and an abundant variety of illustrations and concrete applications is exactly what is wanted to give our students proper grasp and comprehension of a subject. At any rate, I have never found plucked candidates taking less interest than the regular 4th-year students in my lectures on Philosophy or English literature.

Even assuming some amount of inconvenience and disorganisation to exist, I do not see how this would be remedied by making further attendance voluntary instead of compulsory on the part of plucked candidates. The latter will join the 4th-year class, though certainly not in such large numbers as at present, but the inconvenience will be the same, whether their number be comparatively small or great. Indeed, the confusion, if any, will be worse confounded by leading to a demand for special arrangements on the part of those who choose to pay fees for tuition in special subjects, a demand which many institutions will not have an adequate teaching staff to meet properly, nor, I fear, sufficient independence and resources to be above the temptation of seeking to profit by, with their inadequate and over-worked staff. Such appears to have been the experience of Madras.

Next comes the argument from anomaly, which, it is refreshing to think, has nowadays become no less famous, and even more conclusive, it would appear, than of old, the argument from design! Students who, after completing their College course, do not come up for examination, may be admitted to a subsequent examination without further attendance, but not so the plucked candidates.

This is no doubt an anomaly, but "clearly the right way to amend it," as a writer in the Indian Journal of Education has it, "is to oblige students to appear for the examination immediately on completion of the College course," and to require further attendance for six months from those who fail so to appear, just as in the case of plucked candidates. The case of teachers has not been raised in the papers before me, and, besides, is not on all fours with that of plucked candidates; and, though confessedly an anomaly, I am not prepared to say that, having regard to the existing educational status of teachers, it has ceased to be necessary.

Another argument in favour of the proposed exemption is that "plucked candidates have not passed any better since further attendance was made compulsory than they did previous to 1880, when further attendance was voluntary."

A writer in the September number of the University Magazine has shown that this contention is wrong in point of fact; indeed, that the facts point to the opposite conclusion.

I am free to admit, however, that I do not place much value on the statistics compiled, not merely because in one case we have not data for a sufficiently long period, but mainly because the figures from year to year are found to undergo so much fluctuation. The fundamental principle of statistical science that averages and proportions are of value only where the absence of extreme and ungraduated fluctuations indicates the presence of sufficiently constant conditions, is violated in the case in question, and indeed in all statistical manipulations of our University results, so long as those betray the "pendulous oscillation" now almost of classical note.

The plucked candidates themselves, I am sure, would not contend that their attendance at lectures is unprofitable, or even that they would be as well off without these lectures as with them, so far as the chances of success in an examination is concerned. Many of them clamour for the change, because they want to avoid the expense of another six months at College, and the hardship of regular attendance. They look upon education as merely a "bread and butter" concern, and a degree as a passport to the services, professions, or other walks of life. Liberal education of a truly academic type they do not want, and, indeed, do not require for their occupations, and yet, since there is no other passport than a degree, they are forced to undergo all the hardships of such education for which they are not fit, and which itself does not fit their purpose. Hence they want the removal of many of these grievances and hardships, which, I must admit, are real in their case. But the remedy is—not the sacrifice of the true interests of University education by lowering its ideal of mental discipline to the level of "bread and butter" studies, but the opening up of an alternative practical course of education, technical, commercial, or scientific, the institution of a modern or "real" side in our schools, in response to the wide and varied interests of the advancing civilisation of this country, and in recognition of the great modern educational watchwords of variety, flexibility and utility. So long as this is not separately provided for, there will be, as there have been in the past, periodically renewed attempts in as well as outside the University to get over the difficulties by bringing down the level of academic education to suit the needs of the professional, commercial, or "bread and butter" studies; and this perennial source of danger, of irritation, and of suspicion, will continue to retard the smooth course of educational progress along all lines, classical as well as modern, which every true educationist must have so much at heart.

I have already stated in different forms my objections to the proposed change, but the vital objection will best come out if I briefly advert to the history of our Universities, and its character and constitution. Our Indian Universities, though based on the model of the London University, differ from their prototype in admitting to their examinations those students alone who have attended lectures in affiliated institutions. The Collegiate aspect of our University is a most valuable feature, and it is by reason of it that our University stands intermediate between a body like the London University and the great teaching and residential Universities of Oxford and Cambridge. Now, if we look to the past history of our University, we shall find that this Collegiate aspect has been gradually strengthened and developed instead of being weakened or suppressed. In 1880 attendance at lectures in affiliated institutions was rendered compulsory for all sorts of candidates alike, for plucked candidates as well as for regular ones, and only a few years ago the cause of College discipline was very much strengthened by the strict enforcement of regulations respecting percentage of attendance. Throughout there has been development of the Collegiate aspect, and there are proposals for further strengthening it by attaching boarding houses to the affiliated institutions. There has been one slight mistake of recent date in exempting from further attendance candidates who have completed their course, but have not appeared at an examination, but such cases being comparatively rare the mistake has not been very much prejudicial. And now, on the strength of this unhappy back-sliding, this unguarded concession, of a moment, it is demanded that we should go back on the past of our University, on its traditions, on its course of development, and commence to retrace the backward swing of the fatal "pendulum." We may not be responsible for the oscillations in results and percentage,—I believe we are not—but surely we may yet manage to make a decent show of consistency, of plan and purpose in the policy and course of development of the University, for which we are indubitably responsible.

I read in the newspapers that the heads of some of the non-Government Colleges in Calcutta passed a resolution at a recent meeting to the effect that discretion be given to the Principals of Colleges as to the number and subjects of lectures which plucked candidates should be required to attend, and that the students who, after completing a two years' course, do not appear at the final examination, should be placed on the same footing as plucked candidates, except where they can get the Principals to certify that they would in all probability have passed the examination had they appeared at it. Now it appears to me that under this resolution, our Colleges should be able to take abundant care of their pecuniary interests, and if safe-guarding such interests had been my care, I would have fallen in part with the proposal. But I need not waste any further words on this matter, as I do not conceive that, after the comparatively recent scandalous revelations of the way in which discretionary powers that had never been given used to be freely assumed and abused in some places, to the great detriment of the interests of College discipline and morale, and after the elaborate if somewhat irritating measures since taken by the Syndicate to remove all chance of such misappropriation or abuse of discretionary powers, and to introduce system and uniformity in some measure, the University authorities will do anything that might possibly tend to bring back the old regime of chaos and confusion.

There is one suggestion which to my mind deserves some consideration—the suggestion, namely, that unsuccessful candidates should be required to attend lectures only on those subjects in which they have been plucked, so that they may specially "cultivate" subjects in which they are weak. To clear the ground, I may say that the question does not appear to be of much pecuniary significance. I believe the Colleges will levy the same tuition fee for one subject as they now do for more ; at any rate, the unaided Colleges will do so. Again, in the case of a subject like English, where the text-books change partially from year to year, attendance would be unquestionably desirable for all plucked candidates, including those who are said to fail "in the aggregate," as well as those who are plucked in subjects other than English, so that the only question is whether, besides attending one hour in the English class, the plucked candidates should in all cases attend for two hours more as now. I have already stated that I consider the lectures in the class to be profitable to the average plucked candidate, and in the case of candidates who get less than forty per cent. of the total marks in a subject, I am not prepared to say that they do not require additional lectures in such a subject previous to their appearing at a fresh examination after the lapse of a year. For those who score forty per cent. or more, I might be prepared to recommend an exemption from further attendance, but I do not think that the benefit resulting therefrom, whether we look to the time or money so spared, or the number of cases in which the benefit would be claimed, would be commensurate with the worry and want of uniformity sure to be brought on by the introduction of a quite novel principle in our University—a principle, moreover, fraught with big possibilities, as the claim to exemption from further attendance at College lectures in a particular subject on the ground of having passed the examination in that subject, being once recognised, would be logically and irresistibly pressed to secure the real and substantial privilege of exemption from subsequent examination altogether in that subject. That is the real question involved in the proposal to exempt students from attendance in the particular subjects in which they may have passed.

I have been asked to state, for the information of the Syndicate, what special arrangements, if any, are made for the teaching of the unsuccessful B. A. candidates who take admission to the 4th-year class. There are no special arrangements here. In subjects like Philosophy, where the text-books remain the same from year to year, no special arrangements are necessary, and, in the case of a subject like English, where the text-books change partially every year, the studies in the 3rd and 4th-year classes are so arranged that lectures are delivered in the 4th-year class on the books which are new to the unsuccessful candidates. This, I believe, is the general practice. This plan, however, is not always feasible, as when the books new to the plucked candidates are either too many and too important, or too few and too unimportant, to be reserved for the 4th-year class; and in such cases, arrangements are occasionally made with a view to the convenience of the plucked candidates.

From the Principal, Dacca College,— dated the 17th November, 1894.

IN reference to your endorsement, No. 394, dated the 14th August, 1894, I have the honour to state that no special arrangements are, as a matter of course, made for the teaching of unsuccessful B. A. candidates who take admission to the 4th-year class of this College. These students attend the ordinary lectures of the 4th-year class, but if there is sufficient time available for revising parts of the work in class, their requirements are generally taken into consideration in deciding what parts should be revised.

As regards the proposal to exempt unsuccessful B. A. students from any further attendance at College lectures, I am not in favor of any such change, which would be likely to render candidates' preparation for the University examinations even less thorough than it is at present. I would suggest as an addition to the existing rules that those students who, after attending a full course of lectures, owing to sickness or other causes, have not availed themselves of their opportunity of appearing at any F. A. or B. A. Examination, should be required to attend 66 per cent. of the lectures delivered in an affiliated institution in each of the subjects in which they are to be examined for six calendar months more before being admitted to the next examination.

From the Principal, Rajchandra College, Barisal,—dated the 17th November, 1894.

WITH reference to the letters, dated the 22nd and 27th July, 1893, respectively, addressed to the Registrar by the Principal, Patna College, and one of the Professors of that College, containing suggestions about the teaching of unsuccessful B. A. and F. A. candidates, I have the honour to state that we always make necessary arrangements for the delivery of lectures on those books which are new to such candidates from the month of June or July.

As regards the proposal that unsuccessful candidates like those who completed their lectures, but who could not appear at a previous examination for some reason or other, should not be required to attend further lectures after their failure, I beg to say that the proposed exemption will not be for the good of sound education. It is now plain to everybody that our students generally go up for examination without due preparation, even when they attend their College lectures regularly. The case becomes more deplorable when they are left to themselves. Therefore it is highly desirable that they should take advantage of the lectures of Professors on those subjects at least in which they are deficient. But the present rule appears anomalous, inasmuch as it exempts from attendance those students who, after completing their lectures, did not appear at an examination. In my opinion, their case should not be treated as different from that of the plucked candidates. They also should be brought under the rule now in force.

The Rev. J. Morrison moved that the Faculty of Arts are of opinion "that it is not desirable that unsuccessful B. A. candidates be exempted from further attendance at lectures, as required by the present regulations."

Babu Umeschandra Datta seconded the motion.

The Very Rev. Father A. Neut, Babu Lalbihari Mitra, Maulavi Shams-ul Huda, and the Rev. Father E. Lafont opposed the motion.

504. Babu Ramcharan Mitra moved that Bengali be included in the list of Second Languages prescribed for the F. A. Examination.

The motion, which was not seconded, fell through.

505. The Hon'ble Mr. Justice Gooroo Dass Banerjee moved that a Committee be appointed to consider and report on the following proposals made by the President of the Bangiya Sahitya Parish

(1). "That at the F. A. Examination and the B. A. Examination in the A. Course, where a classical language is taken as the third subject, a paper be set containing (i) passages in English for translation into one of the vernaculars of India recognised by the Senate, and (ii) a subject of original composition in one of the said vernaculars, text-books being recommended as models of style.

(2). That the University be moved to adopt a regulation to the effect that in History, Geography and Mathematics at the Entrance Examination, the answer may be given in any of the living languages recognised by the Senate."

Babu Golapchandra Sarkar seconded the motion.

Babu Herambachandra Maitra, the Rev. H. Whitehead and Mr. Prothero opposed the appointment of a Committee.

Maulavi Abdul Karim wished to support the first resolution of the Parishad.

The Hon'ble Mr. Justice Gooroo Dass Banerjee having replied, the President put the motion that a Committee of the Faculty of Arts be appointed to consider and report on the first resolution of the Parishad. This was carried, 22 voting for and 21 against it.

The motion that a Committee of [illegible] Faculty of Arts be appointed to consider and [illegible]port on the second resolution of the Parishad was put to the meeting and lost.

541. THE meeting was held under Section I of the Bye-laws relating to the Senate as its Annual Meeting.

542. The Vice-Chancellor, in opening the meeting, made the following remarks :—

"Before proceeding to the business of the day, I [illegible], with the permission of the Senate, to say a few [illegible] on a matter which arises out of the occurrences of [illegible] last, and about which I am informed that some feeling [illegible]. It will be in the recollection of the Senate that on the [illegible]d February I circulated to the members of the Senate [illegible] statement of the occurrences connected with the resigna[illegible] of his office by Mr. Griffiths, the late Registrar. Among [illegible] things the statement referred to matters which did not come within my personal knowledge, but were based, and declared to be based, upon information received. Had the proposed meeting of the Senate taken place, these and any other statements in the letter to which exception might be taken, could have been challenged in the course of the discussion by any members who felt themselves aggrieved thereby. That meeting, however, was not held, the opportunity of answering these statements did not arise, and such mem. bers, I understand, consider that they have been thereby placed at a disadvantage. I think they need be under no apprehension on that ground. The statement that I made were necessarily ex-parte statements, and if it is the case that they impugned the action of any, well, no person can justly be prejudiced by statements which he has had no opportunity of meeting. But, since some gentlemen consider that they have been prejudiced by the turn that events had taken, I very readily take the opportunity of making this statement, with the object of relieving them of any disadvantage that they may have thereby suffered. I may add that, as the meeting of the Senate was not held, the letter of the 22nd February convening it will not be recorded in the Minutes of the University."

543. The Vice-Chancellor stated that the first business before the meeting was the election of a Registrar for the two years commencing May 1st, 1896, but that, as several other items of business of which notice had been given were directly connected with this proposal, he suggested that the most convenient procedure would be to commence with the consideration of a motion for the appointment of a whole time Registrar, of which notice had been given.

Babu Ramcharan Mitra moved that the Registrar to be appointed at this meeting should be a whole time officer, basing his resolution on the increase in the work of the appointment.

Rai Jatindranath Chaudhuri seconded the proposal.

The motion was strongly opposed by the Rev. [illegible] E. Lafont, who commented on the paucity of the arguments used in favour of the change. He considered the Registrar should be a man of position and standing, such as had hitherto always been the case. He thought the University at present was fortunate in having a most excellent Assistant Registrar, who was a whole time man, and he doubted if it was possible to obtain any whole time Registrar who would do the work better than had been the case with the Registrars the University had already had with the help of the present Assistant Registrar.

Babu Bhupendranath Basu proposed the following amendment:—

(i) That the Registrar of the University should be a whole time officer, this resolution coming into effect at the appointment to be made in 1898.

(ii) That a Committee be appointed to consider and report to the Senate within four months on the following points :—

(1) The pay to be attached to the office of a whole time Registrar.

(2) If any alterations in the Bye-laws on the subject of the Registrar are needed.

(3) And any other matters incidentally arising in connection with the appointment of a whole time Registrar.

Babu Bhupendranath Basu considered that the report of the Committee of 1891 showed that a whole time Registrar should be appointed, and indicated certain directions in which he. thought the work of the Univer- might be improved by having a whole time officer.

endment was seconded by Dr. Nilratan Sarkar.

The amendment was opposed by the Very Rev. Father A. Neut, S. J., and supported strongly by the Hon'ble Mr. A. M. Bose.

Mr. N. N. Ghose considered that the whole question should be referred to a Committee, and proposed the following amendment :—

" That a Committee be appointed for considering if it is desirable to appoint a whole time Registrar, to report within six months on all questions of detail connected with the appointment should they consider such an arrangement desirable, or should they suggest any other alteration in the present system. "

The amendment was seconded by the Hon'ble Mr. Justice E. J. Trevelyan, and supported by Maulavi Serajul Islam, Khan Bahadur, and Mr. A. F. M. Abdur Rahman.

Babu Ramcharan Mitra withdrew his original resolution in favour of Babu Bhupendranath Basu's amendment, and this was again withdrawn by the mover in favour of Mr. N. N. Ghose's amendment.

Mr. N. N. Ghose's resolution was then put to the meeting as a substantive motion, and carried unanimously.

After some discussion it was decided to appoint a Committee of eighteen members of the Senate.

It was then proposed by Mr. N. N. Ghose, and seconded by Babu Debendranath Ray, that the following gentlemen form the Committee :—

The Rev. Father E. Lafout, S. J., C. I. E.
The Hon'ble A. M. Bose, M. A.
Babu Kalicharan Banerjee, M. A., B. L.
A. Pedler, Esq., F. R. S.
P. K. Ray, Esq., D. Sc.
The Hon'ble Mr. Justice Gooroo Dass Banerjee, M. A., D. L.
F. J. Rowe, Esq., M. A.
Dr. Rashbehary Ghose, C. I. E.
Rev. Dr. K. S. Macdonald, M. A.
Rai Lalmadhab Mukerjee, Bahadur, L. M. S.
Maulavi Serajul Islam, Khan Bahadur, B. L.
H. M. Percival, Esq., M. A.
Babu Golapchandra Sarkar, M. A., B. L.
N. N. Ghosh, Esq.
Babu Rajaninath Ray, M. A.
Dr. Asutosh Mukhopadhyay, M. A., F. R. S., F. R. S. E.
Revd. J. Morrison, M. A., B. D.
Surgeon Lieut.-Col. G. S. A. Ranking, M. D.

The proposal was carried unanimously.

The Rev. Father Lafont proposed that Mr. Alex. Pedler, F. R. S., be appointed Registrar of the University for a term of two years, commencing from the 1st of May, 1896.

The proposal was seconded by Maulavi Seraj[illegible] Islam, Khan Bahadur, and was carried unanimously.

544. The Hon'ble Mr. A. M. Bose proposed that the Rev. Dr. K. S. Macdonald, M. A., Babu Isanchandra Bose, M. A., B. L., and Dr. P. K. Ray, be appointed to constitute a Board of Accounts for the year 1896-97.

Babu Umeschandra Datta seconded the motion, which was carried unanimously.

545. The Rev. Father E. Lafont proposed that the Annual Report of the Syndicate for the year 1895-96, which was in the hands of the members of the Senate and might be taken as read, be received and adopted.

The Very Rev. Father A. Neut seconded the motion.

Dr. Nilratan Sarkar asked whether Surgeon Lieut.-Col. Gerald Bomford, M. D., who was elected as President of the Faculty of Medicine, was in India or not.

The Vice-Chancellor stated that Dr. Bomford was not in India, but was expected to return to Calcutta about the 15th May.

546. The Hon'ble Mr. A. M. Bose proposed that Mr. George Howells, B. A. (Lond.), B. D. (St. Andrews), should be admitted to the M. A. Examination, and the Rev. Father Lafont seconded the proposal.

Babu Kalicharan Banerjee enquired whether, if Mr. Howells passed the M. A. Examination of the Calcutta University, he would be eligible to appear as a candidate for the Premchand Roychand Studentship.

The Vice-Chancellor informed Babu Kalicharan Banerjee that the rules of the Premchand Roychand Stu- [illegible]peared to prevent Mr. Howells from competing for it.

Maulavi Shamsul Huda enquired if Mr. Howells would be eligible to take [illegible] prize or prizes from the University if he should pass the M. A. Examination, and he proposed a resolution on this subject which was not seconded, and was therefore not put to the meeting.

The proposal to admit Mr. Howells to the M. A. Examination was put to the meeting, and carried unanimously.

547. The Very Rev. Father A. Neut, S. J., proposed [illegible]at V. S. Wikramanayaka should be admitted to the F.A. Ex[illegible]ination without being required to pass the Entrance Exam[illegible]ion.

The Re[illegible] Father Lafont seconded the proposal, which was carried una[illegible]ously.

548. The Rev. Dr. K. S. Macdonald proposed, and Babu Rajaninath Ray [illegible]conded, the recommendation of the Syndicate that the Fa[illegible]lties for the year 1896-97 should be constituted as follows:—

550. A special meeting of the Senate, convened by order of the Vice-Chancellor, was held at the close of the Annual Meeting of the Senate on 18th April, 1896, to consider the following letter signed by certain members of the Senate:—

The Vice-Chancellor of the Calcutta University.

Dated the 27th March, 1896.

Sir,

We, the undersigned Members of the Senate of the Calcutta University, beg to request that you will be so good as to convene, at as early a date as conveniently possible, a meeting of the Senators of the Calcutta University, to consider the case concerning the B. N. Institution, an Entrance School situated at No. 30, Cornwallis Street, Calcutta, which was affiliated under the order of the Syndicate, dated the 12th August, 1895, and which, we understand, was disaffiliated on 14th March, 1896.

We beg further to request that the papers in connection with the case be printed and circulated among the Members of the Senate.

We have the honour to be,

SIR,

Your most obedient Servants,

Maulavi Shamsul Huda proposed that the consideration of the case of the B. N. Institution should be adjourned for a week. The proposal was not seconded, and it therefore fell through.

The Vice-Chancellor and Mr. Abdur Rahman were in favour of considering the case at the present meeting, and the Hon'ble Mr. A. M. Bose spoke in favour of postponing it on account of the late circulation of the printed papers in connection with the case.

The Vice-Chancellor first put the question that the consideration of the question be postponed, which was carried.

The Vice-Chancellor then suggested that a meeting should be held on Saturday, the 4th of July, 1896, to consider the case.

Babu Kalicharan Banurji considered that this would be too late for the School in the event of the recognition being affirmed by the Senate. But if it was understood that the rules of the University would not, in that event, be allowed to operate disadvantageously to the School, he would not press his objection.

On this understanding, the motion was put to the meeting and carried unanimously.

C. E. COLLEGE,

26th March, 1896.

"TO

THE REGISTRAR, CALCUTTA UNIVERSITY.

SIR,

IN reply to your letters Nos. 1015-1016, dated Calcutta, 24th March, with regard to the application of Jatindranath Basu to be allowed to appear at the ensuing B. E. Examination, we have the honour to report :—

1. The subject for the First and Second Examinations in Engineering of the Bombay University, which the applicant has passed, do not include Analytical Conics, Light, Electricity and Magnetism, and these examinations are therefore not equivalent to the F. E. of the Calcutta University.

2. In the L. C. E. of the Bombay University, which corresponds to the B. E. of Calcutta, Conic Section, Differential and Integral Calculus, Metallurgy and the Steam Engine are optional subjects, and therefore the further studies of the applicant do not necessarily include subjects which are compulsory in the B. E.

3. After passing the F. C. E. and S. C. E., the applicant has not prosecuted his studies in an institution affiliated to the Calcutta University. In the case of similar applications for permission to appear at Examinations in Arts, such as the B. A., it has been* customary for the Calcutta University to insist on this condition.

* Vide Minutes of University, 1893-94, p. 184, Arts. 176, 177.

For these reasons, we recommend that permission be not granted to Jatindranath Basu to appear at the ensuing B. E. Examination.

We have the honour to be,

SIR,

Your most obedient Servants,

(Sd.) J. S. SLATER.

RESOLVED—

Change in the Regulations.

The following addition to the Regulations for the Examination of female candidates under the heading "Entrance Examination of Female Candidates" in page 49 of the Calendar for 1895, has been adopted by the Senate and approved by His Excellency the Governor-General in Council :—

"Female Candidates shall be allowed to take up Khasi as a Second Language."

Appointment of Head Examiners at the F. A. Examination.

Last year, after the publication of the results of the Arts Examinations, the attention of the Syndicate was drawn to a striking want of uniformity in the standard of marking adopted by different Examiners in the same subject, specially at the F. A. Examination. A careful investigation convinced the Syndicate that after making due allowance for other causes, the existence of a real disparity in the standard of marking, specially in such subjects as English and Logic, could'not be ignored. They therefore thought it desirable that an attempt should be made to remedy this evil. A Sub-Committee, consisting of three Members of the Syndicate, was formed to enquire into the matter, and to recommend any modifications in the Rules for Examination that were likely to secure greater uniformity in the method of marking. It will be found from the Report of the Sub-Committee, which has been incorporated into the Minutes, that among other important changes in the Rules for Examinations they recommended the appointment of Head Examiners at the F. A. Examination. This recommendation was adopted by the Syndicate, and Head Examiners have, for the first time, been appointed in the various subjects for the F. A. Examination this year.

Revising Board of Examiners.

Another rule of considerable importance affecting the conduct of the Arts Examinations has recently been sanctioned by the Senate. A Board of Revising Examiners is to be appointed in future whose duties will be to revise the questions set by the Examiner, in consultation with him, and to apportion the number of marks to be assigned to each subject or book on which questions are set in a paper.

His Excellency the Governor-General in Council re-appointed Sir Alfred Croft, K. C. I. E., M. A., to be Vice-Chancellor of the University, with effect from the 19th December, 1895.

The Syndicate at their meeting held on the 14th March, 1896, appointed Mr. Alexander Pedler, F. R. S., to officiate as Registrar in place of Mr. W. Griffiths, M. A., resigned.

The Syndicate for the ensuing year is constituted as follows :—

SENATE HOUSE, }
The 4th April, 1896. }

ALEX. PEDLER,
Offg. Registrar.

did previous to 1880, when further attendance was voluntary. The figures are :—

PERCENTAGES OF PASSES AMONG THE TWO SORTS OF CANDIDATES.

Under the old rule in 1879.

$$\frac{\text{new}}{\text{failed}} = \frac{100}{73}$$

Under the new rule.

| | 1880. | 1887. | 1888. | 1889. | 1890. | 1891. | 1892. | 1893. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| new | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 |
| failed | 70 | 61 | 75 | 74 | 51 | 42 | 88 | 75 |

" Only one year's result under the old rule is given, and that, surely, is not a sufficient basis for instituting a comparison. But we can get figures for other two years also under the old rule which have been overlooked, viz. :—

In 1877, $\frac{\text{new}}{\text{failed}} = \frac{100}{40}$ and in 1878, $\frac{\text{new}}{\text{failed}} = \frac{100}{61}$

"These additional figures quite alter the aspect of things. The average relative percentage under the present rule is 67, while the average percentage under the old rule is only 58. Can anything be more decisively in favour of the present rule ?

" If anything else is required to justify the present system, we may look to the experience of Madras, recorded in the Indian Journal of Education for November 1893. That Journal rejoices over the change from 'exemption' to 'compulsory attendance' recently made by Madras University in the case of failed B.A.'s and failed Entrants, and laments that attendance has not been made compulsory for failed F. A.'s as well. The same extract likewise shows that exemption is not the cry of the students. It says :—'Principals of Colleges well know how unsatis-'factory yet the existing condition of affairs as regards 'candidates who fail at this examination [the F. A.] and 'who come flocking for admission to their Colleges for 'a term only, viz., the second term of each year, the 'term immediately preceding each F. A. Examination 'as the old certificates are accepted as sufficient."
